Monday, March 7, 2022

March 7, 2022

Dear Woman of the Year Honoree,

Congratulations for being honored as Woman of the Year, a significant recognition which speaks to your unique contributions to your community and the State of California. Since 1987, the California Legislature has set aside a day in March, Women's History Month, to recognize women who are making an extraordinary difference in their communities. In a state of nearly 40 million people, you are one of just 120 exceptional women being recognized for this honor this year. But you join a growing sorority of honorees who have received this recognition since the Legislature first set aside a day in March more than three decades ago.

There has never been a more important time for leadership than during this COVID-19 pandemic. In ways big and small, noticed and unnoticed, leaders like you have inspired and changed our communities for the better and kept us going during an extraordinarily challenging time. It is for this reason that we decided we must continue this recognition this year.

On these pages are the stories of your peers who are also making a difference in their communities. We who serve you here in the State Capitol are honored that you have accepted our commendation.

We hope that you will take personal satisfaction in this recognition, knowing that your leadership has brought positive change to your community and blazed a trail for other women.

Sincerely,

2022 Woman of the Year

Jeanne Dahle Taber

Jeanne Dahle Taber is a woman who has dedicated her life to serving people in need.

When she was raising her family in Lassen County, she opened her home to her children's friends, helped people who were down and out, and hired young men to teach them how to work.

The family lived just two miles from the Intermountain Conservation Camp — a state prison camp. To win parole, the inmates needed a job on the outside. Once, the camp authorities asked if she could give an inmate work so he could be released and have a new start—she did. The inmate came to live with the family, and he got that fresh beginning. That's the kind of woman she is.

She started and organized youth camps at the family ranch — a boys camp and a girls camp for youths from Redding and Chico who might not otherwise get a chance to spend time out in nature. In the summer, the camp taught water skiing, gave individual driving lessons on the ranch, and led hikes at Burney Falls, which was always one of the favorite outings. The winter camp brought skiing at Mt. Shasta, tubing down the big hill, and a huge bonfire for hot dogs, hot chocolate, singing and snowball fights.

Jeanne's family life was not always easy. Her husband was an alcoholic. After years of trying to solve this problem, she left him. She loved him but couldn't live that way. She was courageous and went to Pasadena, where her mother lived.

She set out to learn everything she could about alcoholism. She volunteered at the Human Potential Center in the alcoholism department. After she had been there for two weeks, the manager hired her full time. She worked with St. Luke's Hospital helping people to get into recovery and giving their families support and encouragement.

Jeanne's husband finally went to St. Luke's Hospital for recovery. He never had another alcoholic drink and was clean and sober for 30 years and six months until he died. She had a great life with him for the 30 years of sobriety.

Today Jeanne is a deaconess in her church, and her pastor has assigned her to the Card Ministry. Pastors all over the world send prayer requests to the home office in Cincinnati, Ohio, for people who are enduring health problems, physical weakness or natural disasters. These lists are sent out every Friday. She is 81 years old and has been doing the Card Ministry 6 years. In that time she has sent thousands of cards of love and encouragement.

Her life of service and her noble character have been an example not only to her family but to all who have been blessed to know her.

Mary Ann Hansen

Mary Ann Hansen serves as the Executive Director of First 5 Humboldt, an agency dedicated to supporting Humboldt County's youngest children and their families. Mary Ann has been a lifelong resident of Humboldt County, moving to Fortuna when she was a toddler with her family. Her dedication for the well-being of children began as a Human Development major at UC Davis, and continued as she moved on to found Ferndale Children's Center as a community-based non-profit, and later earned her Master's degree at Cal Poly Humboldt and taught for their Child Development Department for more than 20 years.

Mary Ann is a California-endorsed Transdisciplinary Infant-Family and Early Childhood Mental Health Practitioner and works to advance the importance of early childhood mental health through multi-disciplinary collaborations. Mary Ann is committed to the development of sound public policy which advances equity, prevention strategies, positive childhood experiences and healthy systems of support for young children, families and communities. She recently completed her term serving as Policy Chair of the First 5 Association of California and as a Board member of the First 5 Center for Children's Policy, which both promote best practices and policies to better support the well-being of young children and their families. She also serves on the California Surgeon General's Trauma-Informed Primary Care Task Force and co-chaired the Network of Care subcommittee, which was responsible for producing the Network of Care Roadmap, supporting health care providers to create systems of care for children and adults impacted by Adverse Childhood Experiences. Adverse Childhood Experiences have lifelong impacts on child and community health, and her goal is to work with communities to prioritize children's optimal development.

Mary Ann's passion is doing her part to create a California where all children and families have equitable access to the supports they need to live their best, healthiest lives to create a strong California future.

Jill Techel

Techel was born in Grand Forks, North Dakota. Techel attended University of North Dakota and graduated in 1969. Traveling west, she ventured to Salem, Oregon. Techel started working as a field director training administrator in the Santiam Girl Scout Council. After moving to Napa in 1971, she continued her work in the Girl Scouts and assumed the same position in the Napa-Solano Girl Scout Council. She later retired from the Girl Scouts, but continued to participate in community events and discussions.

Starting in the 1970s, Techel has served on numerous boards, commissions, and committees including the Napa Parks and Recreation commission, the Napa-Vallejo Waste Management Authority, and Leadership Napa Valley. She also served on the Napa Valley School Unified District Board, on which she served 3 years as president.

With the death of Mayor Ed Solomon, Jill was appointed to fill the vacancy. She ran for Mayor of Napa after her term ended, and won the election in 2005. She was then elected for a second term, unopposed, in 2008, and a third term in 2012, and a fourth term in 2016, retiring in 2020.

Techel recalls the Napa River and Creek Flood project, which began in the mid-1990s, as the “most significant” among her projects in the community. The 1986 “100-year flood” created havoc in the City of Napa, where damage was estimated at $100 million. The City Council sent the Measure A funding plan to the ballot, which was approved by voters in 1998. The Project provides environmental restoration and economic development to achieve 100-year flood protection while maintaining the living river principles.

Other projects Techel is proud of include partnering with the county to consolidate government services and working to fill the many empty stores in downtown Napa and Napa Town Center.

Techel has two grown children, Eric and Kristen, and two grandchildren.

Calli-Jane West

Calli-Jane West is the Executive Director of the Butte County Fire Safe Council (BCFSC), where she has served for the past 16 years.

She has helped to implement dozens of forest health and wildfire safety projects through collaborations with diverse organizations, agencies, and community members. Having fun with wildfire education has been an important feature of her work, as she and the BCFSC continue to share Wildfire Ready Raccoon's safety messages and related children's book.

As Executive Director, she leads a staff team of fifteen, while also serving as support for satellite Fire Safe Councils and Firewise USA communities throughout Butte County.

Maintaining positive relationships with CAL FIRE, the US Forest Service, County Department heads, and community members has been integral to her work; helping the BCFSC to effectively implement programs across jurisdictional boundaries.

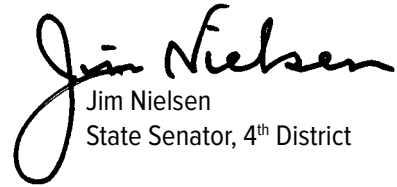

Through well thought out grant proposal authorship, she has helped provide programs such as the Community Chipper, Residents Assistance, 6th Grade Curriculum, and a multitude of forest health and fire prevention projects.

Calli-Jane has also participated in the completion of Butte County's Community Wildfire Protection Plan, its Local Hazard Mitigation Plan, and numerous integral evacuation plans, in addition to landscape-level, cross-boundary forest restoration initiatives.

Outside of work, she enjoys spending time with her husband, Carson, and their four children on adventures to the rivers and lakes of the Sierra Nevada. She also writes stories, composing poetry and linking photography to text. Her storytelling interests focus on friends, community, and her unique interpretations of nature. Currently, she is pursuing a hobby in heirloom apple production in her own backyard in Paradise, CA. Some of Calli-Jane's writing and art have been captured in the children's book titled "Once Upon a Wildfire."

Having been personally impacted by the past several years of extreme wildfire events (Camp Fire of 2018, North Complex of 2020, and Dixie of 2021), she has continued her consistently passionate career in wildfire safety education and community wildfire protection via land management.

Calli-Jane holds a Masters in Geography from CSU, Chico. She is an original Butte County native; the place of her childhood home was burned to the ground during the North Complex Fire of 2020.

Jupiter Peraza

Jupiter Peraza is an undocumented trans woman, activist, graduate student of International Relations at San Francisco State University, DACA recipient, and Director of Social Justice & Empowerment Initiatives at The Transgender District.

Jupiter's work initially focused on immigrant rights and voter mobilization. Through her work as Director of Community Initiatives at Manny's - a community civic and political space in the Mission District - she led nightly programming on civics and politics at the local, state, and national level. During the 2020 Presidential Election, she led a national phone bank program, organized a text bank that sent over one million text messages, mobilized her community to write 25,000 letters to the swing states of Florida and Michigan for the 2020 Election, and traveled to Georgia to canvass during the Senate runoff election.

As a Mexican Immigrant raised in Paramount, CA - a small city in Los Angeles County - Jupiter grew up intrinsically curious and inquisitive about her identity, higher purpose, and place in the world, as she navigated the staunch and toxic heteronormative ideals in school and at home. Cinema, theater, fashion and community give her the comfort that she needs to survive and persevere whilst staying grounded and centered.

In 2021, as Director of Social Justice & Empowerment Initiatives, she led the initiative to designate August as Transgender History Month in the city and county of San Francisco - ushering in the nation's first commemorative month for transgender history. She also led The Transgender Districts' pilot housing subsidy program - Housing Opportunities for Transgender Tenants (HOTT) - which housed transgender, gender non-conforming, non-binary, and intersex individuals in the San Francisco Bay Area. Jupiter is also part of the Dr. Beatriz Maria Solis Policy Institute (SPI) of the Women's Foundation of California. In addition, she helped provide access to vaccines and testing in the Tenderloin District, serving one of the most underserved communities from the city of San Francisco, ensuring their well-being and equitable access to these resources.

For this deep community commitment on the most difficult years in recent history, and story of personal resilience and overcoming adversities, Jupiter Peraza is recognized as the Senate District 11, 2022 Woman of the Year.

Liset Garcia

Liset Garcia embodies the spirit and tenacity of the 14th Senate District. A daughter of immigrants, she started her entrepreneurship early--she joined her parents selling produce in Los Angeles at just eight months old. Liset's parents made sure she knew from a young age that obtaining a college education was non-negotiable. As a result, Liset holds a Master of Public Health from the University of Southern California, and has a Bachelor's of Science in Molecular and Cell Biology with a minor in Psychology from the University of California, Merced. Before settling in Reedley, where she and her family acquired their beloved farm, she worked in community outreach serving expectant mothers who lacked healthcare. Throughout the drought, Liset continued to sell farm fresh produce grown on their farm at a farm stand known as "Sweet Girl Farms." She has teamed with a local beekeeper to place bees in her orange grove so she could sell blossom honey. Liset has additionally completed Reedley College's Healthcare Interpreter Certificate program and continues to pursue online courses in the human biology arena as a hobby.

Maritza Maldonado

Maritza Maldonado, a proud daughter of Mexican immigrants, is the Founder and Executive Director of Amigos de Guadalupe Center for Justice and Empowerment. Maritza was raised in East San Jose's Mayfair community. Maritza learned advocacy as a child, where she lived in the same neighborhood as labor and human rights leader Cesar Chavez. Her family would conduct house meetings on social justice issues, teaching Maritza advocacy at an early age.

After graduating from San Jose State University, Maritza worked as a leader in PACT (People Acting in Community Together), eventually becoming Co-Chair of the community-organizing agency, where she led the campaign for the Children's Health Initiative and helped create a local school reform movement. She served 20 years in education in the Alum Rock School District, where she continued her advocacy for children.

She continues to advocate for her community as Executive Director of Amigos, supporting underserved community members, predominantly families, to become empowered and self-sufficient in the areas of housing, financial assistance, immigration, and education. Most of her staff members are community members who have come back to their East San Jose community to continue the work of uplifting the community and breaking the cycle of poverty. She also initiated the Si Se Puede Collective and became one of five founding members that provide wrap-around services for individuals and families in East San Jose's Mayfair community. Amigos is celebrating its 10th anniversary this year.

Maritza would say that her work is driven by her faith, and she is just the vessel to carry the message. She is fond of quoting St. Francis of Assisi who said, "Preach the Gospel at all times. When necessary, use words." Maritza continues to spend her life empowering and creating systems change for low-income communities of color.

Gail Zurek

Gail Zurek, President and CEO of the Visalia Chamber of Commerce, has nearly 20 years of experience helping communities solve complex problems while promoting local businesses. With a heart for local business, Gail and her team at the Visalia Chamber poured themselves into supporting business, providing resources, workshops, and support during the COVID pandemic. Businesses were forced to reimagine and innovate as the market changed overnight. Gail's innovative approach gave businesses real solutions and, perhaps more importantly, hope. From leveraging local relationships to create relief funds, to workshops about accessing federal and state programs, to weekly video messages communicating the latest business information, Gail was focused on making sure local businesses not only survived but thrived.

Serving the Visalia Chamber for over seven years, Gail has led community-wide initiatives to create a microbrew district to infuse a developing industry into Visalia's historic downtown; developed Jr. CEO to teach youth the value of starting their own business; and created Impact Leadership Conference to provide substantive world-class leadership training for young professionals in the Central Valley.

For Gail, her work and her passion for local business are grounded in the belief that a strong locally based economy creates quality employment, good neighborhoods, and ultimately healthy communities.

In addition to serving Visalia businesses through her position at the Visalia Chamber, Gail is a second-year student at San Joaquin College of Law. Pursuing her law degree will allow Gail to provide solutions to local businesses more effectively. Gail and her husband Michael have been married for twenty years, have two teenage boys, and firmly believe life should be an adventure.

Mary Cortani

Mary Cortani joined the Army and was one of the last US Army's Women's Army Corps (WAC's) service members who served from 1975 to 1984. She became a certified Army Master Instructor of Canine Education while serving in the military. Mary left the Army, earned her degree in computer engineering, and worked in information technology until 2007 while still training dogs on the side and participating in K9 Search and Rescue. In 2007, she started a full-time dog training business and also became an American Kennel Club Certified Canine Good Citizen© Evaluator during this time. In 2010, she was contacted by her first veteran, who had been on another organization's service dog waiting list for three years. Mary soon started working with this veteran which then became the beginning of Operation Freedom Paws.

Founded in January 2010, Operation Freedom Paws is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization that matches dogs with individual needs, including veterans, first responders, children and others who have Post Traumatic Stress (PTS), Complex-Post Traumatic Stress (CPTS) and/or Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) symptoms, or other physical, neurological, psychological challenges in order to restore their freedom to live full lives. Clients are taught to train a rescue dog for their specific disability and upon completion of the program become a certified service dog team. What makes this program unique is the fact that the service is completely free. All that Operation Freedom Paws asks for is the time commitment to finish the 48 week program. Through Operation Freedom Paws, Mary has helped over 482 clients including their 2,195 family members as well as rescuing over 390 dogs. Furthermore, Mary opened her kennel to pets that lost their homes during the state's devastating wildfires. In her own words during the Loma Fire, "The least we can do for those that could potentially lose everything they have, is let them know that their pets are safe and secure."

Mary's decades-long service to families across District 17 is the reason why she was named a CNN hero in 2012, Gilroy Chamber of Commerce 2021 Nonprofit Spice of Life Winner, and KSBW National Jefferson Award Winner among many other accolades.

Thank you Mary for your unwavering support to our community! Your work helping veterans and those with disabilities is making a noticeable difference every single day. Congratulations on being named the District 17 Woman of the Year.

Janet Marinaccio

Janet Marinaccio has been the President and CEO of Meet Each Need with Dignity (MEND) since July 2017, bringing 35 years of experience and leadership in both public and private sectors. Immediately recognizing MEND's role as a community anchor, Ms. Marinaccio has provided strategic leadership to sustain key programs and innovative responses to changing community needs. In the first 2 years, she led MEND's financial turnaround and established an operating reserve and Board-designated investment fund. With this new financial grounding, MEND has been able to survive and even thrive through the COVID-19 pandemic.

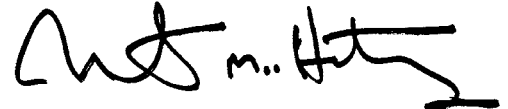

Since March 2020, MEND has provided vital services through over three-quarters of a million service encounters throughout the Valley. MEND's Community Nourishment Program helped put over 5 million meals on the tables of struggling families, and provided healthy food to seniors, people who are homeless, and many others left devastated by the economic consequences of the pandemic; the Hope & Care team provided information, resource, and referrals to address the damaging physical and mental health effects of COVID; in partnership with local clinics and pharmacies, facilitated thousands of vaccine doses in the hardest hit corners of the Valley; and provided one-to-one supports through intensive case managed programs.

MEND has received numerous recognitions, including 2021 Best Charity (Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Daily News), 2021 Top Nonprofit (GreatNonprofits.org), 4-Star Give with Confidence rating (Charity Navigator), and 2022 Guidestar Platinum Seal of Transparency.

Ms. Marinaccio's nonprofit career is anchored in 16+ years at Goodwill Industries. She has developed and delivered programming for a wide variety of populations, including people with disabilities, veterans, those experiencing poverty and/or homelessness, those who are unemployed/underemployed/dislocated, ex-offenders, opportunity youth, and others. In 1998 she started her tenure with Goodwill as a Career Services Coordinator at Goodwill Southern California (GSC) and was promoted into senior management quickly. From 2007-2012 she served at Goodwill Industries International (GII) providing capacity building consultation, training, and authoring white papers that benefitted of 165 Goodwills in the US and Canada on topics such as service delivery, outcomes management, community needs assessment, job placement and retention, transitional employment, veteran's services, outcomes reporting, career development, change management, and others.

Before joining MEND, Ms. Marinaccio served as Chief Operating Officer at Extraordinary Families, which provides safe and nurturing homes for children and youth who have experienced abuse or neglect. In this role, she spearheaded several significant accomplishments, including: a merger between two predecessor agencies and the new agency's subsequent rebranding; leading the development of the new agency's first strategic plan; improvement of obsolete infrastructure, policies and procedures; increasing financial reserves by over 200% to bolster the agency's long-term financial capacity and sustainability; and launching UP4Youth, a program for foster youth age 16+ that combines mentoring with education planning, and employment.

Recognized as the San Fernando Valley Business Journal's 2020 Nonprofit Leader of the Year, Ms. Marinaccio holds a master's degree in Psychology/Marriage & Family Therapy from Phillips Graduate Institute, a bachelor's degree in Education from Niagara University, and a certificate in Program Design & Evaluation for University of Illinois at Chicago. She is a certified Poverty Simulator facilitator and is a National Career Development Association (NCDA) career development practitioner (CDP) master trainer and served as co-editor/co-author on the most recent edition of the CDP curriculum.

Lawanda Lyons-Pruitt

Lawanda Lyons-Pruitt was born and raised in the deep South, Bogue Chitto, Mississippi, shortly after Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat on the bus. She grew up in a loving home with maternal grandparents (who later adopted her, her sister and female cousin), one biological sister, one biological female cousin, and three male cousins. In 1973, she moved to California with her maternal aunt and uncle, Mary and Melton McMorris, both educators who played a major role in molding and shaping her.

Lawanda holds an Associate of Arts degree from Allan Hancock College in Santa Maria, a Bachelor of Science in Criminology from California State University Long Beach. She began her career with Santa Barbara County in 1979, becoming a Defense Investigator in 1984 and was later assigned to the Public Defender Office. In 1995, Lawanda became the first African-American woman in California to serve as Chief Investigator of a Public Defender's office. She served in that role until her retirement in 2016, after more than 37 years of service to the County.

She is a founding member of the Defense Investigator Training Accreditation Academy (DITA) - the first of its kind college accredited program in California and the nation that was specifically designed for defense investigators. Lawanda went on to serve as the first Chairperson and Instructor of Record until retirement in January 2016. The program is accredited through Allan Hancock College, Santa Maria. She served on the Defense Investigators Association (D.I.A.) Board of Directors since the late 80's.

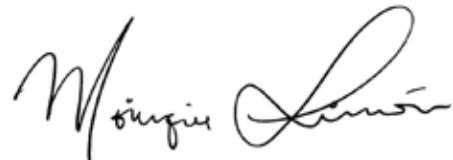

Growing up in the Deep South in the 60's and 70's afforded her the opportunity to have a deep understanding and appreciation of INJUSTICE, UNFAIRNESS, and INEQUALITY, giving her the passion and compassion for those less fortunate, for defense related work, civil and human rights, and social justice.

Ms. Lyons-Pruitt has been the president of the Santa Maria and Lompoc chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) for over 14 years. She is a constant presence within the community and a continuous advocate for progress. Using this platform, she has worked to organize a wide array of initiatives from advocacy focused on civil rights and racial equity to administering COVID vaccination clinics within marginalized communities. Over the course of the COVID-19 Pandemic, Lawanda has continued with her passion to serve. She organized COVID-19 vaccination pop-up clinics serving many communities and focused on educating those who were wary of the COVID-19 vaccine.

Lawanda has carried her passion in service by volunteering with the Good Samaritan Shelter and Helping Hands Outreach Ministry; a member of the 5 Cities Diversity Coalition which formed as a result of 2011 cross burning in Arroyo Grande; a member of the Democratic Club of Santa Maria Valley serving as Candidates & Endorsements Chair. She has served on the non-profit boards of The Fund For Santa Barbara (January 2016 - 2018), Grantmaking Committee (January 2016-2022) and the Santa Barbara County Action Network (SBCAN) (January 2016); She was a committee member of the Santa Barbara County Juvenile Probation Reducing Racial and Ethnic Disparities in the Juvenile Justice System (R.E.D.) (August 2015 – 2019), Once Community Action Coalition (2015 - 2019) and the Santa Barbara County Behavioral Wellness Cultural Competency committee (2016) & Resilient Communities subcommittee (2021).

Soraya M. Coley, Ph.D.

Dr. Soraya M. Coley became the first woman, first African American, and sixth president of the California State Polytechnic University, Pomona (Cal Poly Pomona) in 2015. An accomplished educator and administrator with four decades experience in higher education, Dr. Coley has ushered in a new era of strategic leadership for the campus, establishing a vision for Cal Poly Pomona as a model for an inclusive polytechnic university that inspires creativity, discovery and innovation, embraces local and global challenges, and transforms lives.

As president, Dr. Coley leads an institution with nearly 30,000 students and 2,700 faculty and staff. Under her leadership, Cal Poly Pomona has continued to grow its legacy as the most diverse polytechnic university in the country and as a national leader in promoting social and economic mobility. Dr. Coley formally took office in January 2015, and during her tenure enrollment has grown by 6,000 students and graduation rates have reached historic levels.

A student-centered, faculty- and staff-focused and community-minded administrator, Dr. Coley has led a campus-wide effort charting a new course for Cal Poly Pomona that will define the university for decades to come. To guide this effort, Dr. Coley led the creation of a new strategic plan and launched planning processes to re-envision both the academic enterprise and the campus' physical presence. As part of Dr. Coley's student-centered focus, Cal Poly Pomona has made a historic transition from quarters to semesters — a move that will improve the academic experience for students and increase career opportunities both during their time at Cal Poly Pomona and after they graduate.

Coley came to Cal Poly Pomona from California State University, Bakersfield, where she was the provost and vice president for academic affairs from 2005 to 2014. She also served as interim vice president for university advancement from 2011 to 2012. She has also held positions at California State University, Fullerton, the National Center for Substance Abuse and Child Welfare, and Alliant International University.

In 2019, California Governor Gavin Newsom appointed Pres. Coley to the California Future of Work Commission, charged with making recommendations to the Governor and Legislature regarding the kinds of jobs Californians could have in the decades to come, the impact of technology, methods of promoting better job quality, modernizing worker safety net protections, and ready the state's workforce for the jobs of the future through lifelong learning.

Dr. Coley is also a member of the American Council on Education Women's Network, the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce, the Pasadena Bioscience Collaborative, and the Los Angeles Coalition for the Economy and Jobs. She is a former member of the board of directors for Children and Family Futures as well as the Kern County Schools' "Ready to Start" program. In 2000, she was recognized as "One of Ten Women Making a Difference" by Orange County Metro Magazine.

Coley earned a bachelor's degree in sociology from Lincoln University, and master's and doctoral degrees in social planning and social research from Bryn Mawr College.

Donna Hill

Donna is an accomplished business owner and advocate in the Antelope Valley. As an active community leader she holds Executive Board positions on AV Chambers of Commerce and E & E Love Foundation, and serves as a member on the Board of Directors for Lancaster Museum & Public Arts Foundation (LMPAF), which supports the Museum of Art and History (MOAH).

Her entrepreneurial credits include two successful companies: MomsHouseAV and HillTop, LLC. When Donna conceived the ideas for each of these endeavors, she was equipped with only a dream, a passion to help others, and a need to honor her mother, Chalmetta E. Johnson. Without money to start her companies, but fueled with ambition, drive, and the inspiration of her mother, she successfully created a nonprofit that advocates active aging for seniors, MomsHouseAV. She later expanded her community support efforts with the creation of HillTop, LLC to support other nonprofits.

Since 2013, her non-profit, MomsHouseAV, has conducted numerous seminars, events, projects, and workshops designed to promote active, healthy living lifestyles for seniors. During the COVID 19 pandemic she expanded MomsHouseAV's services to include emergency response projects tailored for seniors. Her GranBag project – which provides activities, higher-end hygiene items and love – has served approximately 5000 seniors from March 2020 to date. As an active participant in her community, Donna is involved with over 60 local charities and organizations. Due to her tireless commitment to her community Donna (MomsHouse) has been awarded commendations from District 21 Senate Minority Leader Scott Wilk, District 36 Assemblyman Tom Lackey and Former Los Angeles County Supervisor-Fifth District Michael D. Antonovich.

Donna is a certified Diabetes Empowerment Education facilitator, and has a Master's Degree in Elder Care Administration. She is a devoted wife, mother and member of Living Faith Cathedral Church.

Deborah McCoy

Ms. McCoy has overall authority for providing leadership, direction and administration of direct patient care activities, nursing practice and nursing education and development across the organization. She is responsible for supporting and modeling a culture focused on employee engagement, quality, patient safety, fiscal responsibility and the overall patient experience. Ms. McCoy is also responsible for the Cardiovascular/Neuroscience, Orthopaedic and Oncology service lines, as well as Acute Rehabilitation, the GYN Oncology Institute, the Colorectal Surgery Institute and several nursing units. She has worked in health care for four decades.

When she was in nursing school, she became intrigued by how one of her professors managed her insulin-dependent diabetes while being a fulltime educator. After graduation, her strong influence led Ms. McCoy to her first nursing position with the diabetes daycare center in Atlanta. This position was pivotal for her, as she began to think about how healthcare is delivered, how patients access the system and how they stay well between access points.

Ms. McCoy moved into management pretty early in her career. Her first management position was as coordinator for a perinatal program that focused on diabetes and pregnancy. She developed a multidisciplinary program known as Sweet Success, which is still active today, to help women control their diabetes prior to conception in order to reduce the risk of birth defects.

This turned out to be a turning point for her. The program showed her that providing healthcare across the continuum and achieving successful outcomes takes a "village" with strong collaboration between nursing, medicine, support staff, social workers and the community.

All of the leadership skills Ms. McCoy acquired and developed over the years have been tested by the pandemic. However, she and the hospital nursing team have cared for more than 3,800 COVID-19 patients who entrusted the hospital with their care and continue to do so, providing high quality care for all patients during these difficult times.

Donda Scholl

Donda Scholl, known as Grammy, has been the lifeblood of kindness and happiness throughout her entire career working in the California State Capitol. Known by members, staff, and lobbyists as the person with the jar of jolly ranchers, Donda has always brought joy to the Capitol community. She has been a member of the Capitol community for decades – having worked for Assemblyman and Senator Tim Leslie, Assemblyman Cameron Smyth, and in both the State Assembly and the State Senate for Senator Melendez. Her infectious smile and discernable laugh is emblematic of living her life by the golden rule “treat others as you would want to be treated.” She is a true believer who lives her faith by example.

Known as one of the best schedulers “in the building,” her institutional knowledge on scheduling is the best of the best. She has worked with the Capitol Resource Institute to help teach some of its scheduling classes and become a mentor to many schedulers on both sides of the political aisle. Members and staff will also recall the famous Capitol Holiday Door Decorating contests and the infamous block parties. Both of which Donda has had a profound impact in the State Capitol in bringing staff together no matter your political stripes.

During her tenure with Senator Melendez, she has helped thousands of constituents from the Inland Empire and been a calming and welcoming voice for any Californian seeking assistance. Her countless hours of service to the people of the 28th State Senate District and the 67th State Assembly District, especially, during the pandemic, showcase her willingness to put others before herself. Donda has been an exceptional representative for the people of Riverside County in Sacramento and achieved all this while experiencing her own challenges. But even on the darkest of days her optimism and a strong belief in her faith, have brought brightness, warmth and joy to everyone. Her brilliance is inspiring and is truly worthy of recognition as the Woman of the Year for the 28th State Senate District.

Alma "Patty" Archuleta

Alma "Patty" Archuleta has been a street vendor in the city of Los Angeles, on 31st and San Pedro Street for 6 years. She has led her own business while serving her community as an organizer for other vendors and maintaining her relationships as a mother, grandmother, daughter, sister, and caregiver.

During the pandemic, Archuleta saw firsthand how COVID-19 impacted the street vendor community. Many vendors along her corridor were unable to secure financial relief and were facing barriers such as access to email or a computer. While experiencing financial insecurity herself and frustrated at the lack of government support for street vendors, Archuleta worked with the organization Inclusive Action for the City to help street vendors apply for permits and find local and federal aid grants they could qualify for. Archuleta sees her fellow street vendors on 31st and San Pedro Street as family – and together they've worked to support one another through difficult economic times. Several vendors have donated supplies to children of fellow street vendors; including backpacks, shoes and clothes, and grocery bags to vendors who are in quarantine and unable to shop for food. For Archuleta and many within the street vendor community, health encounters with the pandemic became a personal reality. Archuleta tested positive for COVID-19 last year and feared for her life when she was hospitalized for ten days amid crowded and overwhelmed hospitals. During this time, street vendors from 31st and San Pedro Street rallied together to support her. When she recovered, Archuleta became even more inspired to give back to her community after seeing the devastation the virus had on the lives of 10 other street vendors from her corridor.

Even before the pandemic, Archuleta served as an advocate for street vendors and worked with the Los Angeles Street Vendor Campaign to have City Hall legalize street vending. She began selling clothing and other household items to support her son, who was experiencing mental health challenges. When she saw that there were nearly 100 street vendors on the corridor, she stepped up as a leader and organizer for them all; establishing regular meetings and working with other street vendors throughout the County to help them navigate permitting and regulations around their business. Alma Archuleta has been an amazing community member in Senate District 30, and her continued leadership and work as a street vendor is inspiring.

Juanita Matthews

Juanita Matthews is a shining light of hope and optimism, and her belief in who we can be as a community has not wavered despite her personal losses. She is a joyful, warm woman who welcomes all into her circle, and her commitment to doing her part to making our world a better place is truly inspiring.

Ms. Matthews had suffered even more personal loss over the years. In May of 1992 she received the devastating news that her oldest son and his three children were murdered by her daughter-in-law on Mother's Day. After years of walking through her own painful journey of grief, she found a way to direct her energies to help others -- turning pain into purpose. Ms. Matthews and her husband (now deceased) co-founded Springs of Hope Grief-Care Center in 2009 with the goal of "mending the brokenhearted".

Ms. Matthews attended Lane College in Jackson, Tennessee, Grace Theological Institute, California State University, Long Beach, Southern California Community Bible College, and Long Beach Bible College. She holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Biblical Studies.

Ms. Matthews is also an Assistant Pastor at Prevailing in Christ Ministries (Carson). For the past twenty years, Pastor Juanita has served through preaching, teaching, music ministry, counseling, conducting workshops, seminars, conferences, and pastoral care ministry.

Michele Richards

Michele Richards was named OC Fair & Event Center's General Manager and CEO in December, 2019 where she has led the organization through the pandemic and eventual recovery. She leads by building strong relationships with employees, partners, elected officials and the public.

Michele took the helm at a critical time just before the pandemic shut down all public access and revenue-generating event business at OC Fair & Event Center, including the 2020 OC Fair. Working with the employees she credits as being the heart of the team, Michele led the organization back to financial stability with the reopening of public events and the much anticipated return of the 2021 OC Fair, the most successful in the fair's history.

During the shutdown, Michele harnessed the excellence of her team to work with state, county and local government agencies and nonprofits to host emergency food distribution events and COVID testing, and used the OC Fair & Event Center as a vaccination Super Pod to serve the community.

Prior to being appointed CEO, she was the agency's Vice President of Business Development for more than seven years, leading the marketing, communications, sponsorship, creative services, year-round events and exhibits and education departments. Most notably, she was responsible for guiding the development of marketing initiatives which significantly increased attendance at the annual OC Fair, launching new sales programs which generated additional year-round events revenue, leading a rebranding effort and advancing the growth of the organization's youth STEM event, Imaginology. But she is most proud of the impact the OC Fair & Event Center makes as a true community asset, serving during emergencies and celebrating the rich diversity of Orange County through a variety of cultural events and educational offerings.

Michele started her association with OC Fair & Event Center as an organizational consultant in 2002 where she helped guide human resources policy, programs and employee training and communications initiatives, while elevating the skills and competencies of employees at all levels.

Michele holds a degree from the University of Georgia and has more than 30 years of leadership experience in a variety of fields. She also serves on the Board of Directors for Girl Scouts OC, Orange County Sports Commission and California Construction Authority.

2022 Woman of the Year

Christine La Marca

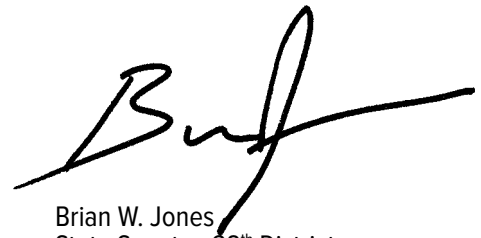

Christine La Marca is a native San Diegan. She attended University of San Diego High School and graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from SDSU. The oldest of six daughters, she works in the family business as a housing advocate and is a strong supporter of educational opportunity and private property rights. Her volunteer efforts are generally focused on community, housing and education.

Together with her twin daughters, Ms. La Marca has been actively involved in SPRITES of East County, a mother-daughter philanthropic organization that focuses primarily on physically donating time serving our community. There are currently 22 designated SPRITES philanthropies; however, their members also serve in the churches, scouting, animal rescues and other philanthropic endeavors. Annually, nearly 200 SPRITES members collectively donate nearly 10,000 hours of community service. The hours are spent working in the community with philanthropies, contributing greatly to their ability to serve children, elderly, homeless, homebound, disabled, and other less fortunate individuals in the community. Ms. La Marca and her daughters each donate about 70 hours a year. Their very favorite work is with the residents of Noah's Homes, whom Christine calls, "the most loving people ever." She has served on the all-volunteer Board of Directors, as Treasurer, one year as President, and is currently serving as their 2nd VP of Fundraising.

Ms. La Marca has just begun her 5th year on the Board for the California Rental Housing Association (CalRHA). After serving as the organization's Treasurer for two years, she was nominated and elected to serve as the organization's President. In 2018 and again in 2020, CalRHA, along with some allies, organized and ran two large campaigns, Prop 10 & Prop 21, to defeat Rent Control in California. Additionally, CalRHA has worked hand in glove with California's Housing is Key program to get rental assistance flowing to renters across the State as they dealt with the financial insecurity that resulted from the pandemic.

Ms La Marca has done extensive volunteer work at the Academy of Our Lady of Peace (OLP), chairing the school's Golf Tournament committee for 3 years. Proceeds from this event helped fund all of OLP's academic enrichment programs, from the Debate Team, to Robotics, to Athletics. Over the past 3 years, even during COVID, The committee has raised over $70,000 per year to supplement these activities, ensuring nearly every student, regardless of financial ability, has access to whatever program they want to participate in. This year, they are on track to raise over $150,000.

Ms. La Marca has taken on additional roles in her service to the community. This includes 8 years on the Board for the Southern California Rental Housing Association – 8 years on their board, as well as spending over 100 hours advocating on behalf of College Prep Middle School to secure their charter with the State of California.

Darrah DiGiorgio Johnson

Darrah DiGiorgio Johnson has served as president and CEO of Planned Parenthood of the Pacific Southwest since 2006. She leads one of the largest Planned Parenthood affiliates with 19 health centers in San Diego, Riverside, and Imperial counties, providing more than 240,000 patient visits throughout 19 health centers and via telehealth each year.

During her tenure at Planned Parenthood of the Pacific Southwest, Darrah has led the organization through some of its most challenging times and has built a strong foundation of excellence in health care, innovation, and dedication to staff engagement that will secure the fulfillment of Planned Parenthood's mission for generations to come. Throughout her career, she has been a passionate advocate for dismantling the stigma and silence surrounding abortion and expanding access to abortion care no matter where you live. Darrah is a strong proponent of comprehensive, age-appropriate, and medically accurate sex education, and believes it is essential in creating a world where every person has the opportunity to choose their own path to a healthy and meaningful life.

Darrah is committed to honoring PPPSW's values of equity and justice and has consistently prioritized training on a variety of issues surrounding diversity, equity, and inclusion. PPPSW board members, executives, and staff continue to engage in opportunities for learning and self-growth, gain a deeper understanding of racism, and work to acknowledge the many biases in our country that impact access to health care and make racism a public health crisis.

In the face of unprecedented challenges and an ongoing pandemic, Darrah has led the charge to ensure PPPSW meets its goal of providing care, no matter what. She quickly launched a brand-new telehealth program, transitioned our educational system to online platforms, and made the necessary changes to ensure Planned Parenthood's doors remain open to all who need access to high-quality and compassionate health care.

Darrah continues to dedicate her career to ensuring broad public access to sexual and reproductive health care through direct service, education, and advocacy.
